Andover Police Solve Exeter- Andover Robberies

Exeter and Andover got together again this week, with Andover's police doing a fine bit of sleuthing to enable both towns to apprehend a man wanted for thievery at the two academies. Yesterday afternoon, the man, Richard P. Adams, Greenland, N. H., was picked up by New York police, and the Exeter chief has gone to the metropolis to bring him back.

Allegedly engaged in a second-hand clothes sales business for which he received his stock without permission of the previous owners, Adams was on parole in New Hampshire on the same charges. He allegedly visited Day Hall on December 2 at which time clothes, luggage, money, etc., were stolen. However, he was kind enough to leave his own clothes behind. Sergeant Hickey and Officer Campbell, detailed to investigate, found a Rogers Peet tag on the trousers, communicated with the Rogers Peet firm, which reported the sale had been made in Exeter. A cleaning number on the coat was traced to Portsmouth, and the owner was found to be Adams. With the Exeter chief and a search warrant, the local police raided his room and recovered a large amount of Exonian clothes. Saturday night the Exeter chief learned that Adams was going to a Newmarket dance, apprehended him at the dance hall, but Adams broke away. But the arm of the law has a long reach. When apprehended in New York he had Day Hall clothes with him.

Christmas Program At Shawsheen P. T. A.

At the Shawsheen P. T. A. meeting in the Shawsheen school hall last night, the Andover Male choir presented a musical program of Christmas carols and religious selections "Praise to God Eternal," "Lo, How A Rose," "Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light," and "O Come All Ye Faithful" composed the first group and "Hark The Herald Angels Sing," "The First Noel," "Halleluia Amen," and two encores, "Visions" and "The Musical Trust," made up the second group. Frank McCarthy, Jr., sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Silent Night" between the choir selections.

Rev. Bernard T. Drew of the Lawrence Street Congregational church in Lawrence told the Christmas story about an ordinary house on an ordinary street.

The school hall was beautifully decorated by Mr. Todd and a large Christmas tree was festive with bright trimmings.

BENEFIT GAME

A benefit football game for an injured athlete will be held Sunday at the playstead at two between the All-Stars and the Former Stars. In the latter aggregation are such stellar performers as Renny, Platt, Perkins, Deyermund and Tammany.

Organist Retires At St. Augustine's

Miss Annie G. Donovan, organist of St. Augustine's church for 45 years, has retired, and her place is being taken by Miss Marion Kennedy of Lawrence, former soloist in St. Patrick's church. Miss Kennedy played at the masses on Sunday.

Miss Donovan, still in fine health, will devote her time to the teaching of pianoforte, and she is at present meeting many of her former pupils as well as new ones at her home on Brook street.

Hope To Provide Charms For Team

A movement is now under way to provide the undefeated Punchard football team with some souvenir of their successful season, such as a small gold or silver football. In a number of recent years these souvenirs have been given the boys, either by public support or by the holding of dances, etc., and it is expected that the team which this year allowed Punchard's goal-line to be crossed but once will also be remembered in this way.

Plan To Prevent Duplication In Giving

An effort to prevent duplication in the giving out of Christmas food, toys, etc., by clubs and other agencies is being made this year by the Christmas Exchange, operated by the Greater Lawrence Council of Social Agencies of which Ralph Wilkinson of Andover is chairman. The Red Cross, nursing committee and League of Women Voters are actively interested in the project which should provide a more just distribution in Christmas giving.

A complete list of families receiving aid is being kept by the Exchange and all Andover clubs planning to remember the needy are asked to help in preventing duplication by notifying the exchange, located at the Community Chest headquarters in Lawrence.

Toys are being solicited by the exchange. They will be renovated at the Lawrence fire station. Anyone having old toys may notify the Townsman, telephone 1250-R, and they will be called for.

Man Killed In Leap From Train

Shepard E. Henderson of Malden, a Boston and Maine accounting division employee, was instantly killed yesterday morning when he leaped from the rear of a Boston to Haverhill train between Ballardvale and Andover. The conductor noted his absence when the train stopped at Lawrence, and railroad police joined Andover police in going to the scene. The body was apparently carried along 75 feet by the suction of the train. Henderson had reportedly been in poor health.

Principal's Duties To Be Divided When Kenneth Sherman Assumes Superintendency On January First

Andover's new superintendent of schools, junior high principal Kenneth L. Sherman as he sat at late superintendent Sanborn's desk Monday and conferred with acting superintendent and Punchard principal Nathan C. Hamblin. (Surette Studio)

An administrative set-up for the balance of the school year was adopted last night as Kenneth L. Sherman, principal of the Junior high school for several years, met with the school board for the first time as superintendent of schools since his promotion to that position last Friday. Mr. Sherman will formally take over the reins on January first. Until that time Punchard principal Nathan Hamblin, now acting superintendent, will assist him in making the transfer.

Mr. Sherman will remain as nominal principal of the Junior high until his successor is appointed. In the meantime the administrative work will be divided among the men teachers in the school. When Mr. Hamblin returns to his duties as principal of Punchard January first, acting principal Eugene V. Lovely will resume his instructorship, and James Hart, substituting now for Mr. Lovely, will be transferred to the Junior high where he will assist Milton Blanchard who will thus be free to do more administrative work.

Minor matters taken up last night included: purchase of 18 fire extinguishers on a trade-in; decision to close schools Wednesday, February 21, instead of Friday, February 23, for the mid-term week's vacation; increase of $100 to Miss Fox for professional study.

K. C. To Hold Open Meeting Tonight

An open meeting of the Andover Knights of Columbus will be held this evening at eight o'clock. Attorney William C. Ford will speak. It is expected that there will be a large attendance of members and non-members, the council having already made considerable progress in its revival.

Abbot Academy Notes

OPEN HOUSE AT NEW DORMITORY

Open House for the Andover friends of Abbot academy was held on Tuesday afternoon in the new Emily F. Abbey dormitory which was officially opened when the twenty-four students in the two lowest classes, and six members of the faculty moved in on November 4. The guests were taken first on a complete tour of the new building, an outstanding feature of which was the Alice Carter Twitchell Memorial guest room for alumnae. The room is being completely designed and furnished by members of the Abbot Alumna association. From Abbey House the guests proceeded to Draper Hall where they were served with tea with the new members of the Abbot faculty.

To Entertain Children

On Saturday afternoon the Abbot Christian association will entertain a number of Andover children at its annual Christmas party in Davis Hall. It is rumored that Santa Claus himself plans to be present. In the evening Mrs. Bertha Morgan Gray will read Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol" to the faculty and students at an informal gathering in the McKeen rooms.

Carol Singing

The members of the choir will make on Sunday their annual visit to the Andover Infirmary where they will entertain the guests with a program of Christmas carols. The traditional Christmas vesper service in which the Fidelity Society and each academic class takes part will be held at 7:45 o'clock on Sunday evening in Davis Hall. It is hoped that many friends of the school will attend and participate in this beautiful service of worship.

November Club Stage To Become Kitchen

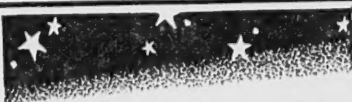

The November club has staged on many an occasion a dramatic performance which has delighted its audience. But at its next regular meeting there will be staged, with the assistance of Miss Alice Bradley, a performance no less delightful and yet one which will be entirely unique in the history of the club.

Is there need to introduce Miss Bradley? Is there any one interested in breakfasts, lunches, dinners, buffet spreads, snacks, afternoon teas, parties of all kinds who has not fled to a Fanny Farmer cook book for inspiration? Then you know Miss Bradley, for she is the principal of Miss Farmer's School of Cookery, Inc.

On Monday afternoon, December 18, the clubhouse stage will become a modern kitchen with complete equipment to permit Miss Bradley to prepare a luncheon menu before the very eyes of the audience, a menu which will contain dishes unusual enough to intrigue the most accomplished cooks and simple enough to prove helpful to the very newest bride. The completed dishes will be on display along with a few other dishes which Miss Bradley is bringing with her all prepared. And there is a special surprise for one part of the afternoon's program, a very pleasant surprise, and that is all that may be said about it lest it cease to be one.

We shall enjoy Miss Bradley and her work, and we shall enjoy doing something toward some one else's pleasure at the same time, for that is the afternoon to bring gifts, suitably wrapped, to be distributed to some of Andover's underprivileged children. Please mark each package plainly to indicate whether it is for a boy or girl and for what age it is suitable. Mrs. Taylor's next lecture on "History in the Making" comes on Wednesday morning, December 20, at 9:45.

Thirteen really was a lucky number at the Punched dime dance in Memorial gymnasium yesterday afternoon which was the first affair of the season to be sponsored by the senior class social committee. Every thirteenth person was admitted free of charge, and there was quite a scrambling around and counting on fingers in the attempts to obtain the coveted thirteenth place.

Feats Of Magic Baffle Students At School Show

There was trickery afoot in the Memorial gymnasium last Tuesday afternoon. Some of the school children who were seated there at 2:15, after the school had closed, suspected that there was a fakir "hauntin'" the house, but as one of the young lads put it, "It wasn't any fake."

Well, it was this way: A handsome young man came out on the stage with a canary inclosed in a steel bird cage; upon being tossed into the air, our unfortunate (?) bird, feathered friend, the canary, and his "cell" vanished. (I wonder how he did that?) Then a pretty young miss came out and the handsome young man put stocks on her hands, and over her head, securely padlocking the device. Within ten seconds the young lady was free from her imprisoning bonds. (I always thought it was the man who was put in the "dog-house," and he doesn't get out in such short order, either.) After this came card tricks, and well, just about everything you can't imagine.

Oh, yes, we nearly forgot. That was Bruce, the Magician, that was baffling those poor "kiddies" (and us high schoolers, too) all afternoon, with his sleight of hand (which is quicker than the eye, as he puts it) feats of legerdemain. We're still wondering if we really saw the things we saw that "weren't there"—or were they?

Our New Superintendent

Last Friday night the school committee made one of the most important decisions that a school committee has been called on to make in two decades, and it followed up an important decision it made a few years ago by again choosing Kenneth L. Sherman to fill a strategic vacancy in the school system by electing him this time to the position of superintendent of schools. In his hands now lies the future of all of Andover's children, and his duty, the school committee's duty, and the town's duty are one: working together for the welfare, present and future, of the coming men and women of our town.

Mr. Sherman assumes office at a time when two very vital problems face him, one the naming of a principal to succeed Punchard's respected Nathan Hamblin, soon to retire under the retirement act, and the other the naming of a principal to succeed himself at the Junior high. No problems more momentous will he face in his term of office. There are so many points that will be brought up when people recommend candidates for both these positions and teaching vacancies, but very many of them mean nothing to the welfare of Andover's children. Personal friendships, place of residence—these are to be absolutely disregarded if by considering them, candidates incapable of fulfilling the positions are chosen. Local candidates should be given primary consideration if they are qualified; our local children however should be given the main consideration.

The town extends its best wishes to its new superintendent with the sincere hope that his administration will see Andover's schools progress to new heights.

V. F. W. TO MEET

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold its regular business meeting in the post rooms tomorrow evening. Plans are being made to send several baskets to needy vets' families for Christmas. The local post is participating in the "Home For Christmas" campaign for veterans' hospitals. The annual party for the children of the town will be held this month, the date to be announced later. A get-together party for post and auxiliary will be held later also.

The following committee is in charge of these social affairs: Commander Robert Stack, chairman; Senior vice-commander Thomas Raidy, Quartermaster Alex Blamire, and Post Advocate John Erving.

TO PLAN BALL

The Andover Police Relief association will meet tonight at 7:30 in the court room to make plans for the Policemen's ball which will probably be held some time in February.

Hungry Christmas Not Very Merry

The Andover Red Cross will again act as the agency for packing and distributing Christmas dinners to needy families. The generosity of the townspeople will determine how many less fortunate will be made happier this Christmas.

The number of families, mostly with children, who cannot afford a Christmas dinner is very large, and yet, in proportion to the number of local families who are assured of plenty, the total is comparatively small. If those who have will share with those who have not, even if it is only a little, "Merry Christmas" will be a reality in Andover this year.

Contributions of money which will be used for the purchase of meat, perishables, and other food-stuffs as the need arises, should be sent to Mr. Philip F. Ripley, 7

Abbot street, as early as possible. Boxes, marked with the Red Cross, have been placed in the local stores for money donations.

Those who wish to give vegetables, fruit or canned goods for the Christmas baskets are asked to bring them to the South church either Thursday afternoon, December 21, or Friday morning, December 22. Many bringing small amounts will adequately fulfill the need.

Mrs. Roscoe Dake is in charge of the work. Organizations or individuals desiring to pack Christmas baskets are asked to consult with Mrs. Dake, telephone 1455-W, to avoid duplication. The Red Cross works in co-operation with the Town Welfare Board.

If anyone would like to give toys or games for families with children, the Red Cross will include them in the baskets.

Members of the Andover Red Cross Nursing Committee and their assistants pack and distribute the baskets. Mrs. Dake's committee includes Mrs. George F. French, Mrs. Edward C. Nichols and Mrs. Lyman F. Cheever.

Election Of Officers At B. W. V. Auxiliary

Refreshments were served by: Mrs. Anne Renny, chairman; Miss Agnes Stewart, Mrs. F. Tillsbury, Mrs. Annie Thompson and Mrs. David Wallace.

MEMORIAL

New books recently added at the Memorial Hall library follow:

White Magic, Baldwin: The luxurious Sun Valley resort is the setting for this wintry, sparkling romance. Garda decides that she will be more happy without a title, and Franz, too, changes his mind.

Passport for a Girl, Borden: This story is timely and in a way tragic for it might be the true story of many people today. A young English girl, engaged to a Viennese Jew, finds her life and his nearly ruined when he returns to Austria, because of family ties, and is thrown into a concentration camp.

The Young Melbourne, Cecil: A scholarly and fascinating account of Whig aristocracy; of Lady Melbourne and her brilliant son William, who married the eccentric and self-centered Caroline Ponsonby, whose affair with Lord Byron caused much bitterness and hard feeling among her friends and relatives.

Hatter's Castle, Cronin: The very tragic story of a Scotch family dominated by the utterly selfish and brutal father. His downfall comes about through a desire for power and wealth, and his means of attaining this end result in the crushing of his entire family.

Painting for Pleasure, Davidson: When writing this book, the author has two aims in view; first, to show how painting may be one of the most interesting and satisfying hobbies, when properly understood; second, to pave a way for the appreciation of the works of great artists.

Children of God, Fisher: A magnificent American epic, this story of the Mormons tells their strange beginnings, rapid growth, persecution and mass migration across trackless western plains. The author has remarkably blended authentic history and imaginative insight in this dramatic story.

Children's Books of Yesterday, James: Many fine illustrations including explanations, make this book very interesting to one who wants to follow the development of children's books from the time when they were merely moral lectures down to Edward Lear and Kate Greenaway.

Back Roads, Taylor: Dr. Winters gave up his chance to study in Vienna and become a brilliant success, as his brother has done, and finds happiness as a poor country doctor, which wealth and success do not always bring.

Fathers are Funny, Van de Water: The father of a 20-year old son looks back over these years and reviews with honesty this relationship, with its problems and joys and finds that he too has learned much.

The Art of Being a Person, Wells: Mr. Wells, a well known psychologist considers living a fine art as well as a science. In his book he includes many case histories to illustrate the fundamental principles which are necessary to build a complete and serene life.

Alumni To Sponsor Christmas Dance

The Punchard Alumni association is planning a Christmas dance to be held in the Memorial gymnasium, December 22, which they promise will be just as much fun as the Barn Dance in the fall. The same committees have charge of the arrangements and they expect to repeat most of the old-fashioned dances that proved to be such a success.

Don't forget the date, December 22, and the place, Memorial gymnasium, for a very merry Christmas dance.

INSPECTION AT PYTHIAN SISTERS

Grand Chief Mrs. Mary L. Iris of Brockton will be the inspecting officer at the meeting of the Pythian Sisters, tonight, in Fraternal hall.

MARDI GRAS AT NEW ORLEANS

A time when half a million people throw convention aside and express their festive feelings before the Lenten period of fasting. Old-world traditions, rollicking crowds, masking, music, dancing in the streets. Parades that are works of art, their floats built secretly on historical, legendary and mythological themes. See New Orleans, its Vieux Carre, famous French restaurants, old Slave Market, Pirates' Alley.

Our Mardi Gras hotel reservations are already secured. Leave Boston February 1.
